CAVEAT ON USE OF THE REPORT

- This assessment report may only be used as part of an individual’s development process with the competencies and job category as recommended by Humance, in compliance with the consent form signed by the candidate.
- It must not be used to make a recruiting decision more than 24 months after the assessment, to set a reasonable time limit on the assessment findings.
- The report may not be released to the candidate without the customary precautions and must not be published or released to persons not involved in the assessment.

INTERPRETATION OF FINDINGS

The competency ratings and levers of development are based on personality or cognitive ability indicators derived from the candidate’s responses. Note that demonstration of a competency depends on other factors as well, including the candidate’s work experience, degree of motivation and the work context. It therefore is strongly recommended that this report be used in combination with other sources of information related to the succession and development management process.

The overall fit score, developed using the Delphi method, helps assess to what extent the candidate’s competency results match the expected profile for a project management position. This profile has been established by our experts and represents what many organizations typically expect in this type of role. However, the context, culture and requirements specific to your organization and the type of position to be filled must be taken into consideration when making your decision on candidates, because some competencies may have greater importance than others.

Therefore, the fit score must not be considered a hiring recommendation, but rather a general indication of the fit between the candidate’s profile and the typical profile of a project management position.

POOR FIT

A profile with poor fit means that the candidate obtained results that do not really match the profile typically sought for the position.

BELOW AVERAGE PARTIAL FIT

A profile with below average partial fit means that the candidate obtained results that match a few points of the profile typically sought for the position.

ABOVE AVERAGE PARTIAL FIT

A profile with above average partial fit means that the candidate obtained results that match several points of the profile typically sought for the position.

GOOD FIT

A profile with good fit means that the candidate obtained results that match the profile typically sought for the position.

Focus on Results

People with a similar score tend to:

- Be concerned about their performance and that of their team.
- Place emphasis on exceeding performance targets and seek ways to surpass objectives.

Autonomy

People with a similar score tend to:

- Try to understand project guidelines before acting in new or uncertain situations.
- Be comfortable working in an environment that offers a certain degree of latitude.

Rigour

People with a similar score tend to:

- Be concerned about organizing their work and pay some attention to detail.
- Follow the organization's procedures when it is easy to do so.

LEVERS OF DEVELOPMENT

This section presents results from different levers of development. Some levers represent an individual's natural tendencies, and others, their beliefs, which may evolve depending on the context. Combined with the above information, this section helps you assess how your organization can maximize the candidate's development potential. People develop faster if they have a number of levers at a high level. Their development will be average if a number of levers are at a low level and their development will be fairly difficult if all levers are at a low level. Decisions should not be made based solely on this information. The following information represents the two ends of the spectrum. Tips are offered to guide individuals, help them use their levers and maximize their development. People with an average score are encouraged to consider two types of strategies because they may be of benefit to them. Sample candidate's score is represented by a triangle.

Learning Ability – Ability to understand and assimilate new information.

Low

Identify several strategies that have worked when you tried to develop a new skill and make them part of your professional development.

Set aside time to integrate new concepts and experiment with new competencies.

High

Use this ability to easily acquire new information by quickly experimenting with skills you would like to develop.

Read books about areas you want to develop or work with a mentor to speed up your development.

Handles Complexity – Tends to enjoy a complex reality and seeks opportunities to play with ideas and concepts and draw connections between them.

Low

Separate complex situations into parts to simplify them.

Identify concrete ways to put what you have learned into practice.

High

Take on mandates with major issues that have an impact on different levels and require in-depth analysis.

Determine how you can use your strengths to work on your development opportunities.

Receptiveness to Feedback – Tends to seek opportunities to learn from their mistakes by being open to constructive comments from others.

Low

Keep in mind that there is more than one approach and that by being receptive to others' opinions, you can learn valuable things.

Ask for a second opinion when you are not convinced by some aspects of the feedback.

High

Evaluate comments and consider the consequences associated with using them.

Ask questions to obtain more information to better understand others' comments before responding to them.

Agility – Tends to adapt quickly, be flexible and manage ambiguity.

Low

Take small steps by experimenting with a new behaviour with which you are more comfortable.

Use learning strategies you are comfortable with or that worked well for you in the past.

High

Step outside your comfort zone and experiment with a behaviour that is different from your usual approach.

Use new and different strategies to acquire new knowledge.

Willingness/Determination to Develop – Tends to set ambitious objectives to exceed own expectations and overcome obstacles that arise.

Low

Develop more ambitious development objectives than those you would normally choose. Then break them down into smaller objectives.

Keep in mind the importance of consistency in pursuing your development objectives even when demands at work increase.

High

Choose realistic development objectives taking into account your day-to-day duties.

Have your development objectives in mind and find ways to combine them with your performance objectives.

Ability for Self-Reflection – An individual's questioning and reflection on their development process.

Low

Plan regular moments to go over what you have learned (every two weeks).

Identify obstacles that interfered with your development objectives during the week and plan strategies for the following week.

High

Identify strategies that have worked for you when you tried to develop a new competency.

Take a moment to identify what motivates you to achieve your objectives.

Perceived Control over Events – An individual’s belief about the control they have over their professional life.

Low

Take a moment to identify obstacles to your development and determine how you can change the situation or your behaviour to facilitate learning.

Be attentive to opportunities that have an impact on events.

High

Take a step back when obstacles arise to determine what you have control over.

Identify obstacles and determine methods to overcome the obstacles to maximize your development.

Motivation to Develop – An individual’s belief in the value of investing time and effort in their development.

Low

Identify motivating aspects of objectives and approaches for development you have chosen.

Make a list of benefits you will enjoy once you have achieved your development objectives and read it when you lack motivation.

High

Identify the best way to put your efforts into pursuing objectives that will have the greatest impact.

Choose a realistic number of development objectives.

Perception of Personal Effectiveness – An individual's degree of confidence in their ability to succeed.

Low

Break down development objectives. Start with sub-objectives about which you are most confident and progress to those about which you are less confident.

Think of moments when you achieved a difficult objective and identify a personal quality that enabled you to achieve it.

High

Have confidence in your chances of success and experiment with new strategies to step out of your development comfort zone.

Think of moments where overconfidence in your abilities tripped you up and identify potential pitfalls to your development.

Environmental Support – An individual's positive perception about the availability of support for their development.

Low

Take a moment to identify resources available for your development by talking to Human Resources or your supervisor.

Share obstacles to your development with your supervisor.

High

From the resources available, identify which are most likely to help you based on the obstacles you encountered.

Discuss the resources available to you and ensure you have a clear picture of everything that is available to you.

ACTION PRIORITIES AND DEVELOPMENT TIPS

This section presents tips to help you ensure the best integration of the individual into the position and to also identify considerations for the individual's development. The items below integrate the main characteristics that the individual should apply in the organization to maximize success.

MAIN STRENGTHS

It would be beneficial for the person assessed to:

Ability to Control Work

- Help the organization by sharing and using their performance monitoring methods.
- Put their performance management abilities to good use by participating in assignments with teams that have lower performance.

Abstract Reasoning Skills

- Be willing to explain abstract ideas to colleagues.
- Use common sense by willingly contributing to solving the organization's complex problems.

Motivation to Develop

- Remember the importance of focusing as much effort on the talents that they have mastered and can put to use as compared to elements which they do not master as much.
- Establish their development priorities in cooperation with their organization to make sure that they devote their effort and energy to the objectives that will be the most profitable.

Perception of Personal Effectiveness

- Use this lever by being a role model to demonstrate to others or encourage them to also feel that they are capable of succeeding.
- Seek to tackle challenges that contain a high level of difficulty by using their confidence in their ability to achieve their objectives.

MAIN POINTS TO MONITOR

It would be beneficial for the person assessed to:

Ability to Organize and Coordinate Work

- Team up with a person known to be organized and draw inspiration from their tips and tricks.
- Identify work methods and tools and use them to help plan their own activities and their team's activities.

Collaboration

- Volunteer for projects that require a more collaborative role or for which they act as the pivot point between various teams.
- Allocate the time necessary to adapt to the team and seek to maintain good relationships with their partners (clients, colleagues, superiors).

Ability for Self-Reflection

- Introduce time for reflection and to step back in the learning process and conduct self-reflection and self-analysis exercises.
- Broaden their self-knowledge by devoting time and conscious effort to self-observation and questioning, especially looking at their experiences and behaviours.

Environmental Support

- Communicate their expectations for support to those around them (teammates, superior).
- Determine in advance opportunities for applying new knowledge in the field, and identify potential obstacles that may limit their impact.
